

Lost and Found Problem Statement

Problem Statement: While there might be lost and found centers on campus, there is not a centralized organization to properly sort and post lost and found items.

Long Explanation: There is a lost and found center in Russell house however, it is rarely used and more people resort to social media, such as Instagram stories or Snapchat to post requests on their lost objects. The goal is to create a website or app where people can post a lost item and others can respond if they have seen it.
